In the past the meetings have been in the eastern and northern parts of the city. Tuesday night brought the people of the western part of the city as highly appreciative of the speaker as those who have attended his meetings in the eastern and northern parts of the city. THE GREAT SKIN-CURE.

MAINTENANCE OF PEACE JAPAN'S FOREIGN POLICY

Foreign Minister Komura Outlines in Diet the Course Which the Empire Will Sustain in Dealing With Foreign Nationalities—Alliance With Britain Strengthened by Time.

Tokyo, January 2.—Speaking before the lower house of the Diet today, Foreign Minister Komura outlined the foreign policy of Japan, and carefully worded speech delivered before a full and attentive gathering. The opening sentence was the keynote of the speech. In it Count Komura said: "The foreign policy of this empire should have its first object the maintenance of peace and the development of national resources." The minister dealt at length with the relations between Japan and America. He said: "The friendship of Japan and the United States is traditional, and it is absolutely essential that both countries, maintaining those sentiments of amity and strengthen them by every means. Nevertheless, the perfect accord which has always existed regarding the aims of the two countries in the Far East and the Pacific, it appears that doubt has been entertained in certain quarters concerning the sincerity of its intentions. To remove this misunderstanding, the two governments have deemed it advisable to exchange diplomatic notes, officially announcing a common policy, which, I am convinced, will be largely instrumental in preserving the repose of the Orient."

Anti-Japanese Legislation.
"With regard to the question of legislation unfavorable to the Japanese, pending in California, the Imperial Government is relying on the sense of justice of the American people, together with the friendly disposition of the Federal government, and is confident that the question will not lead to international complications."

In reference to Great Britain, the Foreign Minister said events of far-reaching importance contributed to the consolidation of the general principles of Eastern Asia, which was one of the principal objects of the British-Japanese agreement. The alliance had continued in strength and solidified and today stands on an enduring foundation. After alluding to Japan's relations with other powers, Komura continued:

"The first point claiming our attention is the problem of immigration. In view of the new international position assigned to Japan, it has become necessary that our people, instead of scattering in foreign lands, shall concentrate in the Far East, thus securing a united effort looking to legitimate activities and providing everything likely to obstruct the development of international commerce and industry. These considerations have led the government to follow an agreed policy with respect to immigrants to islands and to"

United States, entering in perfectly good faith the restrictions placed on immigration.
To Make New Treaties.
Count Komura closed his speech by announcing that the Japanese government had decided to notify the Powers next year of the termination of existing commercial treaties on year after such notice is given. He said that it was the intention to negotiate new treaties unsupervised by mutual engagements. The new compact, he asserted, will be based upon the principle of reciprocity, with a view to free development of national commerce."

The minister's speech was received with applause from the government side of the House, but Count Komura, an Opposition member, immediately began a bitter and somewhat acerbic attack on the foreign policy of the government. He said that Japan followed no determined course and that this was shown by the recent attitude towards America, where the Japanese were denied an equal opportunity, and were even rebuffed by Americans. Recent events, he said, had proved that the anti-Japanese sentiment in America had not subsided. The speaker attacked vigorously the recently concluded agreement with America, saying he believed the Tokyo foreign office was compelled by the United States government to sign the pact to prevent competition by the League of the Pacific coast."

Japan's Dignity Injured.
He declared that Japan's dignity had been injured thereby, and urged the government to enforce the principle of equal opportunity, which alone could solve the question of the rights of Japanese citizens in foreign countries. He said that the President of that country had even denied the Japanese the right to travel, a right which was theirs by treaty. Count Komura's speech was received with continued cheering by the Opposition. Minister Komura replied in a few words, saying that he had outlined the foreign policy of his government and that he had nothing to add and nothing to retract. The House then adjourned.

41 Per Cent. of $30,000,000 Government Bond Issue Subscribed by Public.

London, Feb. 2.—The subscription list for the $30,000,000 Canadian government loan issue closed today at the Bank of Montreal. This loan is the largest colonial issue ever offered in this market, and attracted favorable attention from the press and the public. The outcome, it is stated, is fully up to expectations, and the underwriters, who looked forward to an early advance in the price of the bonds to premium, expect to realize in small amounts down to $50 attracted general attention, and satisfactory results considering that it is a new departure, there having been no less than 2,000 subscriptions by the public, including many under $50. Hon. Mr. Fielding has been highly complimented for his own high credit, and for the success of the loan taken in the open market, which has been highly commended by the public, including many under $50. Heavy Loans Made on Real Estate of Uncertain Value.

Greenfield, Mass., Feb. 2.—Heavy loans on real estate in North Adams during a building boom in that territory are said to be the cause of the embarrassment of the Greenfield savings bank, which was closed by Commissioner Jay this morning. This belief is borne out by the statement of the commissioner, in part as follows: "I am advised that a considerable number of the bank's real estate in certain localities is of uncertain value, and unproductive and as its normal earning capacity is consequently impaired the bank should cease to receive or pay deposits until this real estate can be made productive or pay deposits until this real estate can be made productive and its value established."

HUNGARIAN PARTRIDGE IN PLACE OF CHICKEN

Fish and Game Protective Association Seek Grant From Government to Aid in Introducing This Game Bird into Alberta—Deputation Appears Life Legislature Committee.

The Alberta Fish and Game Protective Association was represented before a meeting of the agricultural committee of the Legislature today morning, to introduce this game bird into the province, and to lay before the committee the request which will be made to the Legislature for assistance in a scheme to stock the province with Hungarian pheasants.

R. A. Barker, president of the association, of Banff, Green, of Calgary, and S. Baker, of R. Green, formed the delegation. Hon. W. T. Finlay, Minister of Agriculture, the member of the agricultural committee, Gen. H. H. Herby, court deputy minister of agriculture, and Mr. Lawlin, chief game warden, were present at the meeting. W. F. Puffer, member for Lacombe, chairman of the committee, introduced the delegation.

Mr. Barker explained that the Department of Agriculture had made arrangements for him to meet the committee of the House in order that the members might have some idea of the work which is being carried on in the province by the association of which he is head. After the interview they will be able to deal with matters relating to their legislative capacity.

More Game Guardians.
"We recommend more game guardians," said Mr. Barker, "and also that a license fee of $1 be imposed on all wishing to hunt game with the exception of farmers and those living near the foothills parallel. Another recommendation is the discontinuance of sport licenses. The season for shooting all water fowl should open on the same date, preferably September 1st. The reason for this is that 50 per cent of the ducks shot in that week in August are only half matured."

Hungarian Pheasant.

The principal undertaking of the association as shown by both Mr. Barker and Mr. Green is the introduction into this province of Hungarian partridges to take the place of the rapidly disappearing grouse and prairie chickens. These birds are not as large as grouse, but they are most prolific, are easier of movement and will give any amount of sport. They also assist to farmers in riding the birds, and in inflicting less loss they will be most valuable.

Last April fifteen boxes of these birds were introduced and in the fall of last year forty more were imported. The experiment has proved very successful in every way. The association will ask the government for a grant of $500 to carry on the work. Every dollar secured from the government carries with it to a similar amount. A request will also be made that the birds be under strict protection until '912.

PHILADELPHIA ASSOCIATION TO CONTRIBUTE

The delegation showed the necessity for a game warden to be able to arrest any poacher on the spot and make the game warden a warrant free. The game was thought to be too light and should be placed at a minimum of $10.

PREPARATION WITH THE STATE.

Preparation Made By the Standard Oil Co. in Supreme Court.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 2.—Rather than be driven from the state under the terms of the decision of the Supreme Court, the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana has proposed that the state of Missouri go into partnership with it in the management of its Missouri business.

No more remarkable proposition for state control was ever submitted by a corporation than that presented by the Standard Oil Co. to the Supreme Court this afternoon. After setting out the many reasons for the company's refusal to leave the state, the company stated that it was willing to place itself under the supervision and control of the state, if it will aid in a proper solution of the difficult situation. If some such arrangement be acceptable, the owners of the majority stock of the Standard Oil Co. will place their stock in the state.

It is further proposed that in lieu of the Standard Oil Co. the state of Indiana Co. that a new Missouri corporation be formed which shall take over all the Missouri property of the Indiana Co. and conduct it as all the business in this state. All the stock of the new company, less enough to qualify directors, shall be issued to and for four years stand in the name of two persons as trustees, one selected by the state and the other by the Indiana Co., both trustees to be approved by the court.

These trustees shall act as officers of this court, subject to its control and direction; they shall have the right to appoint a vigilant supervisor over the affairs of the company and to see that it conducts the same in a way that is fair, just, lawful and proper treatment is accorded to the public as well as to the company and its real owners. If, however, no action is to be taken or, if, in the event of a suit, the court should find that the company is not acting in a proper manner, the court shall have the right to appoint a new trustee, the decision of the judges or their arbitrator to be final.

This proposal would prefer not to form a new company. It would prefer to remain in the state and have appointed such trustees, giving them as irreversible power of attorney, full power of supervision over the conduct of the business in Missouri as that outlined. The stock of the Standard Oil Co. owned by the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey shall be sold and transferred, and become the property of the state. The state shall have the right to transfer and hold by such trustees for the same period.
